Appreciation of Difference

The following items are used in various assessments and job descriptions to measure appreciation of differences.

- I understand and demonstrate that “disabilities represent differences, not “inability”, and act accordingly.
- I understand and demonstrate, respect, and learn from the values and beliefs of others.
- I treat all clients, peers, and supervisors respectfully.
- I promote an atmosphere of mutual respect and cooperation to foster a climate for the comfortable expression of ideas.
- Actively listening to diverse points of view.
- Actively seek out people different than myself.
- Making it a point to let people know about my confidence in their abilities.
- Appreciate others from different backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives.
- Works with and relates to people from different backgrounds.
- Demonstrates interest in learning about others.
- Understands and respects the values and beliefs of others.
- Recognizes advantages of moving outside existing comfort zone when interacting with others.
- I learned to seek out others with different backgrounds or perspectives to improve decision-making.
- I learned to understand and respect the values and beliefs of others.
- I actively listen to diverse points of view.
- I actively seek out diverse points of view.
- I have a clear understanding of how I define diversity.
- I contribute to creating an inclusive environment.
- I treat others with dignity and respect.
- Understands and respects the values and beliefs of others.
- Works effectively with others despite differences.