Self-Awareness

The following items are used in various assessments and job descriptions to measure self-awareness.

• I have good verbal and non-verbal communication skills.
• I know when it is necessary to ask for further instruction on a given task.
• I put the group’s success ahead of personal goals.
• Setting a personal example of what I expect of others.
• Have more self-confidence and accurately assess personal strengths and weaknesses.
• Accurately assessing and articulating my strengths and weaknesses.
• Maintains an optimistic perspective.
• Displays poise and self-assurance without seeming egotistical.
• Expects the best from self and others.
• Communicates effectively verbally and non-verbally with customers and co-workers.
• I learned to maintain and project an optimistic perspective.
• I learned to expect the best from myself and others.
• I actively learn about topics or issues of which I have less knowledge.
• I can clearly articulate my personal values.
• I can clearly define my personal leadership style.
• I can accurately assess and articulate my strengths and weaknesses.
• I seek out challenging opportunities that test my own skills and abilities.
• I am confident when leading a group of peers.
• I set a personal example of what I expect of others.
• Demonstrates effective communication (written & oral) with supervisor and/or Resident/Assistant Directors.
• Appropriately confronts customers and enforces policy.
• Displays integrity and reliability in job performance.
• Overall job attitude.
• Displays a professional and polite manner/attitude.
• Receptive to supervisory suggestions or directions.